

心理実践実習Ⅰ(医療臨床心理実習Ⅰ)

Elective 1 credit

OTSUKA, Hidemi・
MOTONAGA, Takuro・
ISHIDA, Wataru・YUN, Seongsu

1. Course Description

The purpose of this seminar is two. One is to learn the present conditions of the care of the heart in the medical institution because graduate students perform psychology training in a medical institution. The other is that they learn activity and the fact of the psychology clinician, a problem for experiencing it. This seminar is chosen next for master one year. They will usually receive practical training in the partner medical institution of the non-member. They make a training preparations report before a training start. In addition, the graduate student takes an examination whether or not medical institution training is possible. They submit a report to a teacher every time and, during a training period, receives instruction. The graduate student submits a training end report after the training.