

Introduction to Management I

Syllabus Number

MAN-116

Elective

2 credit

YO, Kinka

1. Course Description

A variety of organizational aspects and lateral management that an enterprise has will be explained in this course. After surveying the development process of the theoretical research on management of the modern enterprise, we will learn various themes such as: characteristic of the organization; the relationship between the organizations, motivation institute, the leadership, the human resources management, management philosophy and the corporate culture.