

Law of International Organizations A

Syllabus Number

ILA-315

Elective

2 credit

NORTAKE, Teruyuki

1. Course Description

This course deals with basics of international organizations. The topics are as follows: formation and development of international organizations; definition and classification of international organizations; diplomacy of states and international organizations; influences of international organizations on states; international organizations and law; the character of international organizations.