

Seminar I

Syllabus Number

SEM-301

Compulsory 2
credit

ISHIGE, Hiroshi

1. Course Description

In this seminar, students experience research and analysis of industries and companies. Through the study, you can deepen your understanding of industries and companies. Also, you will acquire the skills of how to research and analyze for business problem, how to present your ideas effectively in the business seen. These are the objectives of this seminar.

In the spring semester, students learn the basic method for research and analysis of industries and companies, also you will present your group work.