Introduction to Japanese economy Ⅱ

Syllabus Number ECP-102
Compulsory Elective
2 credit

KOBAYASHI, Narihiro

1. Course Description

In this course, we will study the history of Japanese economy after the WWⅡ. It includes (a) postwar world economic rules; fixed exchange rate system, and GATT-IMF system, (b) Japanese economic and social changes in the high growth era, (c) Nixon shock and Oil shock in the 1970s which forced Japan to change its economic structure or economic growth depend on external demand and a large amount issue of government bonds, (d) trade friction and the Plaza Accord, (e) era of strong yen and the 'Heisei-Bubble-economy'. Through studying these subjects, we'll understand so many economic issues of today have its origin in Nixon shock and oil shocks.