1. Course Description

This course is aimed at students who have already learnt basic Chinese and is a semi-intermediate level course. Based on elementary elements already studied, it will steadily introduce new vocabulary and grammar. Focusing on exercises to practice listening, speaking, reading and writing, it will allow students to make simple conversations in Chinese. At the same time, it will introduce Chinese way of thinking and national features that appear in particular Chinese phrases, as well as old culture and customs.
