Research Methods in Experimental Syllabus Number Elective Psychology II Experimental Syllabus Number Elective 2 credit

1. Course Description

This course focuses on research methods, measurement theory, experimental design, data analysis and presentation used in experimental psychology and related fields. Furthermore, students will learn programming language (HSP) and make some experiments by themselves.