

家族関係・集団・地域社会における心理支援 に関する理論と実践

Elective 2 credit

KIHARA, Kumiko

1. Course Description

This course offers graduate students the opportunities to acquire knowledge of psychological support theory and practices for family, group and community. The main topics are as follows: Bronfenbrenner's ecological system theory, psychological services for the family relationships, parenting, nurturing, organizational consultation, case studies of counselling and consultation. Each student will be required to work in teams, participate in constructive discussion, and submit brief reports.