

International Economics I

Syllabus Number

ECO-201

Compulsory Elective
2 credit

OKUDA, Hidenobu

1. Course Description

In this class, you will learn basic knowledge about the globalized global economy. International Economics II describes “international transactions of goods and services” and “international transactions of currencies and funds”. International Economics II describes emerging economies and foreign economic policies. Completing International Economics I and II will give you a basic understanding of the world economy.