1. Course Description

This course aims to expose students to policies and political situations of the United States that have been drastically shifting under President Donald Trump.

In spring semester, students learn short history of America including American revolution, ratification of the Constitution, Civil War and the making of a Superpower.

With this historical background in mind, we explore why such an unconventional leader as Trump emerged, how far he has changed postwar policy direction and whether Americans would choose four more years of Trumpism in November election.
