

Securities Market I

Syllabus Number MOF-303
Elective 2 credit
YAMAMOTO, Hiroyuki

1. Course Description

Let us assume that there is no securities market. Modern society would no longer hold.

It is possible to unlock the securities market, or to live in modern times we have benefited from how the market, also, to slide into check whether there is any inconvenience.

In this lecture, dare we focus on Japan's securities market, it is assumed that you glanced world from there. Hence, it might become a very practical thing.

As investors via a defined contribution pension, also as a fund raiser of the company, students who attend this course can take a very appropriate action in the future.