

Seminar : Sociology I

Syllabus Number

SEM-301

Compulsory 2
credit

YAMAGUCHI, Takashi

1. Course Description

This seminar will take up deviant behavior as the major theme. It seems that many discussions on deviance lack a concrete basis. While looking at the problem critically, students will learn to analyze the relationship between deviant behavior and contemporary Japanese society. Through the exercises, students will be encouraged to think about where Japanese society is today, where it is headed, and what relation this has to individual people.
