

産業・労働分野に関する理論と支援の展開

Elective 2 credit

ZAITSU, Koji

1. Course Description

In this lecture, first of all, using the general theory and knowledge of industry and organization psychology, psychologically examining the current situation and problems in industry and labor field. In addition, we will present a model case on actual counseling in the workplace and discuss it. While analyzing psychological problems in the enterprise separately for organizational factors and individual problems, we will consider the complex relationship between both.