

Introduction to Archaeology I

Syllabus Number

ARC-101

Compulsory Elective
2 credit

TAKAKI, Nobuaki

1. Course Description

In this class, it will be explained that features of dealing with materials in archaeology are different from historical studies based on literature materials. Archaeology is related to research fields in the natural sciences such as chronological determination, stratigraphic theory, therefore, it will be also explained these related fields. After explaining the knowledge that is the basis of archeology in the first half of the class, in the second half of the class, it will be outlined from the appearance of human beings to the occurrence of the city and the formation of the ancient civilizations.