Contemporary Japanese Economy I

Syllabus Number ECH-301

Elective 2 credit

MIYATA, Jun

1. Course Description

This lecture course for college student, we study history of contemporary Japanese economy. The coverage period is from the revival period (1945-1955) to the period of high economic growth (1955-1973). And what is more, students must make good preparations and review what was learned. The contents of this class will help students to obtain a complete view of historical transition shaped by economic activity of Japanese. We must absorb a wider view for economics, routine economical information, current and future prospective of economic activity of mankind.