

Science of Cultural Properties and Its Preservation I

Syllabus Number

CAS-207

Elective

2 credit

KASAI, Manabu

1. Course Description

Scientific research methods are usually used for the investigation of antiquities, archaeological and historical materials. In this course various kinds of new technique and those noteworthy results will be introduced. Conservation and treatment of cultural properties also will be referred to.