

Public Policy II

Syllabus Number

POS-102

Compulsory 2
credit

1. Course Description

In this course, we will study to obtain basic knowledge on the decision-making of public policy and the implementation of public policy.

Lectures will be given on the decision-making of public policy including the rationality of policymaking, the relation between policymaking and interests, the influence on policy by the system, and the influence of the idea on policy.

We will also learn about the system to implement public policies and the evaluation of public policies.

※This course will be taught in Japanese.