

政治経済英語Ⅲ

Syllabus Number

ENG-205

Compulsory Elective
2 credit

MICHELIN, Franck

1. Course Description

Besides newspapers from the English-speaking world, we will also think about the economic and politic situation in Asia, Europe, and other regions. Every week, we will read an article written in English and analyze it in Japanese. Through this process, the students will improve their reading skills in English. The spring semester will be mainly dedicated to North America, Europe and the Middle East. However, we will change chosen topics according to the news.