

Introduction to Psychology I

Syllabus Number	PSY-101
Elective	2 credit
YAMAMURA, Yutaka

1. Course Description

This course introduces the foundations of general psychology (sensation and perception, learning and cognition, emotion and motivation) to students taking this course. At the end of the course, participants are expected to recognize and recall major terms and concepts in general psychology, describe and explain major methods and theories, and apply theories or findings to real world situations. Your final grade will be calculated according to the following process: Mid-term examination (30%), term-end examination (70%), and a fraction of in-class contribution.