

Group Psychology

Syllabus Number

EDP-103

Compulsory Elective
2 credit

TAKIGIKU, Kazuyoshi

1. Course Description

As an introduction to Social Psychology we will look at "social influence" by questioning what kind of influence people, groups or society have on other individuals or groups. Introducing as many real-world examples as possible, students will be given the opportunity in class to carry out social psychology experiments, tests and surveys by themselves.