

Seminar I

Syllabus Number

SEM-301

Compulsory 2
credit

NAKANISHI, Toshihiro

1. Course Description

The world has stepped into an era in which politics gives a lot of influence on economy. In this course, students are supposed to do research on how economy of each main state and region is affected by geopolitical factors. Students also discuss how Japan is influenced by international developments and they brush up skill of presentation and debate through exchange of view in the course.