

Family Clinical Psychology

Syllabus Number

CLI-202

Elective

2 credit

OKAMOTO, Junko

1. Course Description

Family is a nest in which one can be nursed and relaxed. At the same time, it could be the very site where the most intense conflict could happen. In this course various points of view from clinical psychology upon the functions of family will be introduced, as well as the historical transition and the statistical facts. Students will get to see family as dynamic system which develops and changes, and the new insights over one's own family would be acquired.