

Educational Evaluation

Syllabus Number EDU-213
Elective 2 credit
TAKIGIKU, Kazuyoshi

1. Course Description

In the practice of education, assessment is the key way of evaluating whether there has been development in your students and whether the application your teaching plan has achieved the intended results. Assessment also offers us useful information for the selection and creation of teaching plans, content and methods. In this sense, assessment is an invaluable and integral part of education practice. On this course we will learn about the value and methods of assessment in education.