Tourism Economics II

Syllabus Number

ECT-206 Elective 2 credit

OZAWA, Kenichi

1. Course Description

Turists use varipus resorces to achieve their tourism objectives. This is ture not only for domestic tourism but also for international tourism. The purpose of this lecture is to condact economic analysis of the resources used by tourism, the environmental impacts of tourism, economic analysis of international tourism, and economic analysis of tourism policy. In paticular, in this lecture, we analyze international tourism using international economics or international trade theory from the viewpoint that internatinal tourism is the trade of goods and services by tourists themselves.,