1. Course Description

Recently, building new tourist spot utilizing the local resources has been demanded by the society. That's why in this lecture we are going to discuss and learn about the resources of cultural facilities and heritage while suggesting ideas about it. Through our investigation based on field survey specifically, by raising your communication and presentation skills you are able to complete a graduation thesis in a shorter amount of time.

Furthermore, we are going to investigate and research by groups in this period of time several times. We will visit our working groups on the spot. We will also walk around and take a close look into it while practicing about local resources.

I will be looking forward to your co-operation and progression in the work. I hope that you will learn more about the basic on local resources and will make full use of it after graduation.
