1. Course Description

As a continuation of Seminar Education I, we will continue to consider what we can do for minority people such as international students, foreign workers, children of different culture and languages, elder people and/or people with disabilities. Students will continue to work in a supporting group for minority in or outside of campus, and prepare to present solutions for their problems. We also to build up academic skills needed for writing thesis. Students will make final presentation on their own research project at the end of the course.
