1. Course Description

The theme of our seminar is support for children and infants who experience difficulties in adaptation for schools, kindergartens and nursery schools. The reason of their difficulties are from developmental disorders, child abuse, and so on. In a spring semester, each member sets a theme, researches documents, gives a presentation, and then participates in a discussion of the class. And also, each one makes a plan for the field research which will be held in an autumn semester. In class, we divide into groups according to the areas of interest, conduct joint surveys, and give presentations and discussions.
