Public Economics I

Syllabus Number PFP-301
Elective 2 credit
HASHIMOTO, Satoru

1. Course Description

This course aims to study two main points as follows.
First, we discuss government policies and local government policies in terms of micro economics. Second, we consider the solutions about serious problems that Japanese public sector has.
In this course, we consider government policies at the national levels including fiscal and monetary policies. Therefore, students should have a large stock of knowledge about micro and macro economics theory, and basic mathematics.