

国際経済政策論 II

Syllabus Number

ECP-306

Elective

2 credit

FUTAMURA, Hideo

1. Course Description

This course can be recommended to take after understanding the basic theory of International Economic Policy I. This course focuses on understanding the international economic policy issues that are currently becoming more serious and considering how to solve these problems. The specific contents of this course are as follows; post war world order, Neoliberalism, recent protectionist thinking, the issues of free trade, globalization of finance, international migration problems, increasing global income inequality, and global warming issues.