

心理実践実習Ⅰ

Elective 2 credit

FUJIO, Miyuki

1. Course Description

This is the qualification program to take the exam for professional psychologist. Students visit and see various facilities where the psychologists work with other professionals. Visits at four institutions are planned, one in each field of education, welfare, industry and juvenile correction. Students are expected to learn how effectively psychological insights and skills are used through the communication and correlation with non-psychological specialists. Students are also expected to learn how to take responsibility and behave as future professionals.
