

Practice of Psychology Research I

Syllabus Number

PSY-101

Compulsory Elective
2 credit

MOGAKI, Madoka

1. Course Description

This course presents a closer examination of what a psychology research paper should look like. It also delineates the significant components of a psychological study, i.e., introduction, methods, result and discussion. It aims to build the skill set required in carrying out formal psychological research.

Note: This course will be taught in Japanese.