

発達障害児・病弱児の生理・病理

Elective 2 credit

FUJII, Yasushi

1. Course Description

This class is taught by a teacher who is a pediatric neurologist.

In this class, students will study mainly exercise physiology and pathology to understand developmental disorders and health impairments more deeply. Students will acquire basic medical knowledge about developmental disorders, concerning Autism Spectrum Disorder, Attention Deficit / Hyperactivity Disease and Learning Disabilities. And also students will acquire basic medical knowledge about health impairments, concerning Heart Disease, Renal Disorders and blood disorders. And also students will study the importance of the cooperation with medical care and educational supports for the mentally retarded children.