

Labor Economics I

Syllabus Number	PFP-307
Elective	2 credit
YUKAWA, Shiho

1. Course Description

In this course, we will study various issues from an economic point of view which are related to working such as job loss, work life balance and promotion. The knowledge gained in this course will be useful for business person-to-be in the near future. The goal of this course is to be able to understand issues related to working and to exchange opinions in these issues.