

Issues of contemporary economy B I

Syllabus Number

ECP-305

Elective

2 credit

NAKAGAKI, Keiichi

1. Course Description

Global demand for infrastructure is enormous with rapid urbanization and economic growth of emerging countries specially in Asia. Japanese companies are capitalizing these opportunities and Japanese Government's policy is to support them as important growth strategy.

Through the course, analysis on several business fields of infrastructure system export is made based on my working experience.

The course is designed to assist students to understand characteristics of important business fields of infrastructure system export as well as strength/challenge of Japanese companies active in these fields and to make use of knowledge for their future carrier formation.