1. Course Description

This course is taught by selected lecturers from our departments who can communicate the meanings and advantages of studying at Teikyo University. This course aims to encourage students to enhance broader critical perspectives and enrich their knowledge. As our university emphasizes the importance of active learning among our students, many of our courses center discussions and debates between students. Should you wish to question our academic staff, you are most welcome to do so – as it might be a new experience for you to communicate the academic staff.
