1. Course Description

The purpose of this course is to help students put into practice their knowledge of basic Spanish grammar (indicative mood) and vocabulary before studying abroad. Students will be given various tasks to write Spanish sentences which include a self-introduction, useful expressions for the everyday life or SNS and some brief explanations on Japan.

Students are expected to come to class fully prepared. The final grade will be based on active participation in class by "chat", homework, the mid-term and end-term examinations.
