

Sociology 1

Syllabus Number

SOC-101

[IV]

Elective

2

credit

ISHIJIMA, Kentaro

1. Course Description

This course introduces the foundations of sociology not only to students who are majoring in sociology but also those who are not.

At the end of the course, participants are expected to explain the basic concepts and ideas of sociology and use its perspective when they discuss a topic which they are interested in as their major.

Students are expected to attend all of the courses. Please do not disturb other students who would like to listen to the lecture.