

発達心理学概論

Syllabus Number

DEP-101

Compulsory 2
credit

KURODA, Miho

1. Course Description

Developmental psychology is the scientific study of human beings change over the course of their life, from fertilization to death. Developmental psychology examines the influences of nature and nurture on the process of human development, and processes of change in context across time. In this lecture, we learn changes of three major dimensions: physical development, cognitive development, and social emotional development, then learn the problems in lifelong development.