

Corporate Accounting Law II

Syllabus Number NFL-306
Elective 2 credit
YOSHIDA, Takaaki

1. Course Description

The existence of companies is indispensable in modern era where capitalistic economy has developed. Corporate Accounting is a method for recording and communicating the activities of these companies, and especially Financial Accounting offers significant information to stakeholders of companies.

In this course, we will study how to make financial statements like a balance sheet and an income statement. This course will help students to acquire abilities to evaluate a fiscal position and a result of operation of companies, with examining their financial statements.