

学校生活と子どもの健康・病気

Compulsory 2
credit

FUJII, Yasushi

1. Course Description

This class is taught in team of the two teachers. One is a medical doctor and the other is the educator with much experiments as a school teacher. In this class, students will study the mechanism and treatment of the diseases including of infectious diseases, metabolic diseases, developmental disorders, allergic diseases, sleep disorders, and so on. And also students will be expected to require the knowledge and skill for the life-saving emergency treatment. Furthermore, the aim of the course is to be able to help reduce the psychological and physical burden due to those disorders.