1. Course Description

In the child care and the infantile education, music is very important. Music can foster children's sense, and give chances to express to children. Children who experienced various music come to create the self-expression in music. Therefore, the skills of music are necessary for teachers of the children's day-care centers and the kindergartens. In this class, the basic music skills that have already been acquired in the university are developed. As for this class, practice is the main.
