

考古学Ⅰ

Syllabus Number

ARC-101

[III]

Elective

2

credit

TAKAKI, Nobuaki

1. Course Description

Archeology is a study based on material data, and it has features different from general historical studies based on literature materials. In this class, it will be explained about important themes in human history, such as the evolution of mankind and diffusion to all over the world, the beginning of settlement and farming, the appearance of metalware and cities.