1. Course Description

The purpose of this course is to develop each student's research and presentation ability based on global studies approach. This class is open to students with disciplines such as education, history, politics, literature, culture, international relations, and so on. Students choose themes interesting to them, research, analyze with hypothesis, and make presentations on his/her research. It is preferable for students to look at the theme objectively and have broader perspective at the starting point of their research for master's thesis. Getting different points of view from other students and the professor in this course, students will be able to progress in their research.
