

Career Development and Education

Syllabus Number

CAE-201

Compulsory Elective
2 credit

IGOU, Yoshinobu

1. Course Description

This course aims to study of a connection between career development and education referring to the key points outlined in “Equal Educational Opportunity”. Subject teacher of this class comments on theoretical treatise. This class also pays attention to the impact that Information and Communication Technology (ICT) has on career development in all stages. For example, how does Course Management System and Learning Management System encourage self-directed learning or transformative leaning? We will explore these topics paying attention to the disparity between theory and reality.