

國際政治經濟學入門 I

Syllabus Number

INR-101

[V]

Elective

2

credit

GUO, Sizhi

1. Course Description

The lecture of "international political economics" is a highly interesting subject in that sense. In order to understand the structure of international political economy and foundations / related knowledge and to develop accurate problem discovery and analysis ability, this lecture focuses on interaction and interrelationship between international politics and the international economy and structure and framework. And we will try to grasp, analyze and explain the various problems that modern international community exists through tools such as "theory and history" and "case analysis" for easy understanding.