Family Clinical Psychology

Syllabus Number CLI-102

Elective 2 credit

OKAMOTO, Junko

1. Course Description

Family is a nest in which one can be nursed and relaxed. It could also be the very site where the most intense conflicts could happen. In this course various points of view from clinical psychology upon the functions of family will be introduced, as well as the historical transition and the statistical facts. Students would get to see family as dynamic system which develops and changes, and the new insights over one's own family would be acquired.