

臨床心理実習 II

Compulsory 1 credit

TAKANASHI, Rieko・FUJIO, Miyuki

1. Course Description

This class is designed to summarize cognitive and experiential learning during the master's course. Students are expected to deepen their knowledge and experience through presentations, discussions, and role play for their practice. The themes to be dealt with boundary between clients and therapists, the meaning and risks of self-disclosure of therapists, supervision, collaborations with other specialists and related organizations.

This course also deals with career guidance by senior clinical psychologists as guest speakers to help students shape their career after graduation.