

スポーツ解剖学Ⅰ

Syllabus Number

GEA-301

Elective

2 credit

KATO, Hajime

1. Course Description

The course provides the student with general knowledge of static and kinetic/functional human anatomy. While reviewing the locations of various anatomical structures and their functions in athletic movements, the student is expected to gradually formulate “a bigger picture” and learn how a human body functions and moves as a unit.