

Seminar I

Syllabus Number

SEM-301

Compulsory 2
credit

GUO, Sizhi

1. Course Description

In this seminar, focusing on the important and indispensable international economic theory and fact should be including the emerging countries such as China, another important pole of the world economy. In addition, we also take up energy and the environment, investment issues that has a significant impact on change-whereabouts of the international economy and financial situation , to discuss.