1. Course Description

We will study part of Collateral following part of Property. In order to study collateral, we need knowledge of economy law and civil procedure code besides general, property and contract law. Therefore, all students need to study necessary prior knowledge. Most collateral have formal regulations (e.g. Mortgage) but some collateral are not (e.g. security by means of transfer or reserve ownership). Therefore, we try to understand theory of collateral and control of case law (and practical affairs) in Japanese.
